METHOD AND DEVICE FOR DIAGNOSING THE DYNAMIC CHARACTERISTICS OF A LAMBDA SENSOR USED FOR CYLINDER-INDIVIDUAL LAMBDA CLOSED- LOOP CONTROL

FIRST OFFICE ACTION

CLAIMS

35 U.S.C. § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 8-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which the Applicant regards as the invention because the word "it" (claim 8, line 2 and claim 9, line 1) as used therein makes the claim indefinite.

35 U.S.C. § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 7 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rosel et al. (6,439,038).

With respect to independent claims 7 and 13, Rosel et al. suggest a method and corresponding device for diagnosing a dynamic characteristic of a lambda sensor, which is used at least intermittently for a cylinder-individual lambda control, the method comprising:

detecting at least one actuating variable of the lambda control (col. 8, lines 12-14);

comparing the at least one actual variable to a specifiable maximum threshold (col. 8, lines 21-23); and if the maximum threshold is exceeded, a dynamic response of the lambda sensor is deemed insufficient with respect to usability for the cylinder-individual lambda control (Fig. 3).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 8-12 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims because the prior art fails to teach or suggest the claimed subject matter of claim 8.

CITED DOCUMENTS

The Applicant's attention is directed to the enclosed "PTO-892" form for the prior art made of record at the time of this office action.
